Honors Residence Halls

Without fail, when discussing their time in Honors, current students and graduates agree that being a part of the Honors Living-Learning Community is one of the best decisions you can make! The Honors Living-Learning Community is housed in Joe E. Berry Residence Hall. Berry is a co-ed residence, with suite-style accommodations, large common kitchen areas, and reserved community spaces for Honors students. For more information about the benefits of the Honors Living-Learning Community, visit our website at honors.cofc.edu, and select ‘Student Life.’ Please note that:

- Priority placement in Honors Housing is given based on the enrollment deposit and housing application date—the earlier they are completed, the better chance you have of receiving your first-choice assignment.
- If you wish to live in the Honors residence hall, you should not request a non-Honors roommate; if you do, you may be placed in non-Honors housing with the non-Honors student.
- To network with other students admitted to CofC Honors, use the CofC Honors Class of 2024 Facebook group or GroupMe (links to these are available online or by scanning the QR code on your “Congrats” postcard).

Honors-Preferred Orientation Sessions 2020

To ensure that you are effectively mentored and registered for Fall classes, the College of Charleston has set aside spaces at five of the Summer Orientation Sessions to accommodate incoming Honors students. For a smooth transition to your undergraduate career, we strongly recommend you attend one of the following sessions:

- Session 1: June 15 and 16
- Session 2: June 18 and 19
- Session 3: June 22 and 23
- Session 4: June 29 and 30
- Session 5: July 8 and 9

These are the only dates when all of the Honors College faculty fellows will be available for advising. In addition, we have organized a number of important information sessions for both you and your parents that will only be available at the orientation sessions listed above. If none of the Honors Orientation Session dates work for you, or if you plan to attend Session 10, let us know by May 1. Orientation registration begins in mid-March on MyCharleston for students who have paid their enrollment deposit. Sessions fill quickly, so don’t delay in claiming your spot in the CofC Honors community!
